The company Neseef

The company

Neseef develops means to strengthen and support the welfare and quality of life of human beings. They help people to become 'whole'. All sorts of pollution hinder people from thriving. There lies the challenge for Neseef, to develop means to counteract these effects and remove them where possible. For this purpose Neseef already has developed effective products like the Healing Oils and the Gold Water Series and recently the Purifying Salt.

The team

Alexandra Steverink;

forms the basis of Neseef. As well as managing the company she manually develops and mixes all recipes herself.

Francis van Oorschot;

assists in the management of the company. He is responsible for marketing and is supervisor of Neseef.

They are supported by various employees.

Philosophy

Care and attention for the product, raw materials, humans and nature are the central focus of Neseef. The production process is done with the same care and attention - from choosing the place on earth where the raw materials and the plants come from, the treatment of the soil and the seed to the packaging and transport. This creates a unique and exclusive product of exquisite quality and optimal effectiveness.

Objective

Our objective is to really help people in their process in becoming a fulfilling human being. To offer support in the flowering of all the qualities that are present in everyone. In order to make experiencing greater happiness and wellbeing for both mankind and for all living things a reality.

Sources of knowledge

There are still unknown worlds with sources of special knowledge right under our noses.

With the aim of bringing people to completion Neseef opens itself to those worlds.

The unique resources that are developed within Neseef, are recipes created by Alexandra Steverink. For many years she gets detailed information in her dreams about creating resources that support humans and which have proven their effectiveness in practice time and again.

The quality

Quality and effectiveness

Within Nesef we strive to create products of the highest quality.

We try to achieve this quality by taking all the steps down to the smallest detail with care and attention.

Where we look at:

Intention

Making a quality product depends in part on the inner attitude, the intention; the intention with which acts are done and choices are made. At Nesef every employee focuses on the intent: "to create an optimal product for the happiness of others".

Quality materials

In collecting the materials special attention is given to qualities like purity, freshness, fragrance and colour. We also look for that spot on earth where the raw materials, in one specific setting and atmosphere, are found, so that the resources are best able at bearing the ultimate goal. For the Purifying Salt we look for a high-quality, minimally polluted, Atlantic sea salt.

Fair quality and effectiveness

At the basis of the Nesef team lays the harmonious participation of human beings with the earth and the environment.

Assignments are given to as many small biological or ecological functioning businesses as possible. No colour, odour, fixation, preservation and emulsifying agents are added.

Action from the Netherlands to Japan: The Purifying Salt

Action for Japan

In the Netherlands people responded to the earthquake and ensuing tsunami with horror and compassion. Many campaigns were started to support Japan.

One of these campaigns is the development of salt that can offer help to people who became ill from radiation that was released due to the natural disaster.

The initiative for this project was taken by the company NeseF. She has the ability to develop something in house that can support people when they have been exposed to a high dose of radiation.

But NeseF would not have come this far with its production without the many; many generous Dutch people that immediately have given their contribution to this project. Thanks to the many forms of assistance both in labour and financial resources, the company succeeded to develop this special Purifying Salt in such a short time and to produce this on a small-scale.

Further support is taking place and soon the salt will be available in larger quantities. NeseF will make the salt available at cost price to anyone who needs it and wants to use.

The creation of the Purifying Salt

Origin

The Purifying Salt has its origins in ancient times. The recipe came to Alexandra Steverink some time ago in her dreams.

"I'm in a large, bright space that is new to me, yet I know the way and it feels like home. The atmosphere is bright; study, meditation, enjoyment and concentration are well balanced. It's still quiet as I enter. An early morning sun shines inside. The places where the sunlight cannot come are illuminated by bright shining bulbs of the same intensity. Before I begin I go stand in front of the four windows. They are not real windows, but framed large stone slabs. After the last one I am: open to inspiration, loving, involved and I feel infinite pleasure in work.

I check the 'cooking pot'. That is a somewhat disrespectful term for the ingenious device in front of me. It is about three meters high, cut from rock crystal and double-walled. Yet transparent enough to see the liquid inside moving. The sunlight twinkles in both the rock crystal wall as well as the liquid. Below is a ring attached around the large 'pot'. It's used to transfer the energy so that the contents remain at the right temperature. It's all working well.

I walk into a room separate from the rest. A room with soft green colours and a wall full of prescription tools. Everything is neatly organised. There is also a small workshop. I sit down and lean over the book of recipes. It contains symbols and text in secret code, which I can read without any trouble. I double check the ingredients and the sequence and walk back into the main workspace. Several people are now working and I check if everything runs smoothly. We have been working on this recipe for weeks. Today the salt can be removed from the pot and is allowed to crystallize."

How it works

How it works

The Purifying Salt has the special property that it removes various burdens from the body.

The Purifying Salt helps the body quickly and effectively disposes of various wastes. Especially energetic, electromagnetic, emotional and radioactive waste products. When there are too many of these waste products the body stores them 'temporarily', waiting for a time when they can be excreted.

This accumulation takes place on the cell walls. If it is not removed it will create a surplus of waste. With such a surplus the passages will narrow and the cell walls will harden. The supply of nutrients and the excretion of waste are thus delayed or impeded. The functionality of the whole cell decreases, resulting in a deteriorating condition of tissues and organs.

The cleaning salt consists of small salt ions, which attract the waste products through osmotic forces. The ions become bound to the waste and are then transported via the blood to the excretory organs.

There are three different concentrations available.

Normal

This dose can be used as table salt. Normal is designed to help the body slightly with its elimination processes.

Medium

This dose can be taken by anyone who wants to undergo an intensive cleaning. It can also be used during a cleaning cycle, with various forms of intensive purification therapy or when exposed to electro smog or slight radioactive contamination.

Strong

This dose is highly concentrated and it supports the body when it is exposed to a (too) large amount of radioactivity.
